$250,000 RAID IN LOOP VAULT

30,000 IN RIOT OVER SLAYING OF ERZBERGER

Two Killed, Others Shot by Police.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—Thirty thousand

Communists and Independent Socialists

from all parts of Berlin today invaded the suburb of Potsdam, the center of Germany's old royal life, in protest against the assassination of Matthias Erzberger.

The royalists, celebrating the anniversary of the death of the king, had had a small parade in Potsdam when the demonstrators arrived.

The leaders of the Berlin throng tried to induce their followers to respect the police and keep calm, but hated. When the green police asked the demonstrators to disperse a policeman was standing under the historical tree where Frederick the Great used to smoke his pipe. He was attacked by the demonstrators, who were armed with stones and clubs. The police fired, killing two and wounding several.

Numerous monarchist flags were burned and the demonstrators tried to tear down the flags, leading to numerous encounters.

Socialists Uniting.

A strong, bright red flag, composed of the Majority Socialists and the Independent Socialists, is forming in German political life as a consequence of the Erzberger murder. The fusion, which has been developing for months,

was accelerated by last week's events,

it was revealed clearly in today's demonstrations between the Socialists and Independent Socialists. An invitation was extended by the Socialists to the Independent Socialists to join them in the government and share the responsibility. The Communists are also willing to accept individual admission, will not accept the collaboration of the Communist party as a party.

Therefore the Communists organized their own Erzberger demonstration

today in "the haunts of reaction,"

Potsdam.

Plan Funeral Demonstration.

A big all-Socialist demonstration has been planned for the funeral of Dr. Erzberger on Wednesday. It will include with the demonstration of the Center and Democratic parties. The trade unions and federations are issuing proclamations to the government formulating measures which they deem necessary to prevent further political murders. They demand that no nationalistic ceremonies or conferences shall be allowed, and that any one who carries the old monarchist

flag shall be arrested.

Greeks Beaten by Turks; Lose Men, Supplies

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—After three days of fighting the Greeks have been forced to retire across the Sakaria river, in Asia Minor. The Greeks lost many prisoners, much material, and ammunition and transport wagons.

The entire plan of campaign formulated by the Greeks has been temporarily held up.

The Greeks are said really to have been defeated by the lack of water and many men stricken with malaria.

It appears probable that this lack of water may halt active military operations for weeks. The Greeks are making strenuous efforts to supply their troops, sending to the front in automobiles thousands of wine barrels and skins and wooden tanks filled with water. The Turks, who are suffering as a result of the Greek transport system, are offering rewards of $1,000 for the capture or death of a chieftain and $3,000 for the capture or death of a motor captain.

SABBATH NAP ON

PORCH, DREAM,

$86 AND A LAUGH

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—

Bearing a special delivery stamp, the following has been received by the World:

"Mrs. Harry Bent of 10th street,

Midland, S. I., was resting in a rock-ing chair on her porch. A tall, dark man approached. He appears to have hypnotized her, for she could not move

when he thrust his hand into her stocking and drew forth $86. Then he ran away.

"Mrs. Bent rushed to the street screaming 'Stop thief!' Neighbors and a policeman responded. She described the robber, and, pointing to her did not get suspicious, he says, for nearly twenty minutes. Then he opened the inner door and went inside to find out the "why" of the delay. As he appeared at the vault door the men walked out and suddenly covered him with their guns. Bound and gagged like his companion guard, he was taken into a nearby room and there was tied and handcuffed.

One of the bandits, he said, then took Weber's place behind his desk. Another assumed Jonas' former position, half hidden in the inner corridor. The two others went back into the vaults. From their clothes they produced two fifty pound hammers, some cold chisels and a number of felt pads. They fell to work on the boxes with these formidable tools and a short time they had opened the nineteen.

Loot Nineteen Boxes.

Jonas, squirming at his post, could watch them working. One box ripped open disclosed a number of Liberty bonds.

"Leave them alone," the leader commanded when he saw them. "We're after cash only!" And cash was all they took.

Thirty minutes passed while they worked on the boxes, gathering up and segregating the contents. Boxes of jewelry which they might have had trouble in hypothecating were thrown on the floor. Money they tied into small bundles and packed carefully in their pockets.

AFTER GAMBLER'S MONEY

Jonas said that from their conversation he judged they were after a deposit of $125,000 which a south side gambler was said to have brought in there earlier in the day.

At another time he heard one say: "Let's get that crapshooter's box!" That their total loot was considerable, Jonas said, was evidenced by the satisfaction in their voices as they opened box after box.

Finally the leader said: "We'd better blow before some one comes down here and starts something." Jonas was cautioned to "keep his mouth shut" and the four walked slowly out.

Then, according to Weber's story, they closed and locked both inner and outer doors to the vault as they went, sauntered coolly up the stairs and out on Randolph street, there intermingling with the crowds.

Depart Unnoticed.

No one saw them go, as far as the police learned last night. No clew to their identity has as yet been discovered.

Half an hour later Supt. Patrick Leahy of the building made a tour of the first floor. As he looked down the stairway into the vaults he saw papers scattered on the floor.

That was all that was needed. Suspecting that a robbery had taken place and believing that he had the robbers penned downstairs, he dropped on the floor and opened a fusillade at the vault doorway, just visible through the barrier of steel bars which formed the wall of the inner corridor.

SOKOL MARCHERS

Important in the parade of Czech-Slovak gymnasts were spirited national costumes which gave a gay color to the celebration. Military and civil costumes appeared in profusion. (Tribune Photos.)

The Sokol Union of America held its annual festival at the Coliseum yesterday and many Chicagoans who didn't know what a sokol was came away with the idea that it is a good thing for the rest of the United States.

For a sokol is a gymnastic tournament. The word itself means "falcon," and the idea originated in Bohemia many years ago. It is the grandfather of the German Turnverein.

The festival yesterday was exercises by various branches of the local order and exhibitions by a model class of sokols, who came from Czech-Slovakia for the purpose.

First came the exercises by a class of little girls ranging in age from 4 to 10 years. Dressed in blue bloomers and white middie blouses with red ties the 250 girls went through a number of intricate calisthenics to the music of a band with no word of instruction. They were followed by boys of their own ages in a similar exhibition.

With the entrance of the classes of men and women, the exercises became more complicated, the climax being reached when the class of nine from Czech-Slovakia arrived.

Building offices in room 608, had just entered the corridor when Leahy's first shot sounded. He rushed over to where Leahy was lying on the floor.

"What is it, a stickup?" he inquired. "Yeah—get the cops," Leahy answered.

Parker rushed out and brought in Policeman Fred Ballou, who was standing at Randolph and Clark streets. Ballou shouted a warning to the traffic officer there, who sent in a flash to the detective bureau, and hurried to the scene.

A few seconds after Ballou arrived another officer assigned to East Chi-they found Jonas squirming at his bonds. Then one ran to Weber's desk, got the keys and opened the front door, letting in the stream of police who had arrived.

Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes, alerted by telephone of the robbery, came rushing through the loop in his automobile. Lieut. Wolfe and a squad from central station beat him by a few seconds. Soon the place was swarming with officers.

A great crowd, attracted by the sound of Leahy's pistol began to gather on the street. Rumors that the band of robbers were surrounded in the vault went abroad. Nervous owners of deposit boxes besieged the doorways. Police lines, hastily formed, cleared the rotunda of the building.

Reporters and newspaper photographers received rough handling from these officers—especially Policeman 113—and from some self-appointed guardians of the building. The whole affair was one of disorder.

When the dust had settled Chief Hughes and a picked squad of detectives immediately began examination of the wrecked vault, to ascertain, if possible, the owners of the boxes which were raided. As fast as these were discovered attempts were made by telephone to notify them.

LOOT AT LEAST $250,000

At 1 o'clock this morning Chief Hughes declared that the loot would amount to at least $250,000.

Milton A. Held, 2138 South Wabash avenue, was one of those who lost. He had $12,000 in currency and a diamond ring valued at $500 which was taken. He said the robbers left $4,000 in Liberty bonds and $700 in war savings stamps. Austin E. Foster, barber at 1312 West 64th street, who owned box 1401, lost $3,300.

George Silver, the cafe proprietor, had upwards of $150,000 in cash and jewelry in the vaults. Another box held $40,000 in cash. In still another there was a $125,000 stake.

Mike Ulie, 1917 McAllister place, and John Navolito of Oak Park had box 1001. They lost $5,630 in currency and a gold watch.

While the robbery was going on a Dr. G. Dorsey, a spiritualist, was holding a seance on the seventeenth floor. He had just finished telling his absorbed audience—mostly females—that a "dark cloud was hanging over this building" when the first of Leahy's shots rang out. Two of the women fainted.

One of the first officials of the vault company, which rents 2,500 boxes in the Masonic Temple basement, to arrive at the scene was Joseph Albee, superintendent. He immediately began an examination to learn the extent of the loot.

"I can't give an estimate," he declared. "Sometimes there's as much as $200,000 stored here. Other times much less."

Do You Sell on Price or Preference?

During the past twenty-five years of rising prices, some firms with ample capital bought material requirements far in advance. They bought for less and sold for less than the average. They did not need to excel in salesmanship.

But for the next decade prices may have a steady or downward tendency. If so, big and little firms will be on a more even competitive basis. Size of plant and capital will give little advantage. The maker whose goods the dealer can SELL will get the business. Public preference will decide what retailers and jobbers will purchase. Manufacturers must therefore consider insuring their market by advertising.

We offer merchandising and advertising counsel matured by a continuous experience of seventeen years with many of the largest manufacturers in America.

The total shrunk so rapidly that estimated for the fiscal year 1921, which in the department, issued in December, figured that the yield would be $6,500,000,000.

The yield in the last however, was somewhat for the fiscal year 1921, revenue act having been on Feb. 24, 1919.

The collections from profits taxes for the fiscal year 1921, amounted to $3,225,790,653, as against $3,225,790,653 in the fiscal year 1920, an increase of $1,350,173,250, amount, but the 1921 increase of $731,145,350.

Income and Profits.
The yield from income taxes for 1921 was slightly less than the treasury experts had estimated. The total counted on $3,200,000,000 came and profits taxes. The figures made public not disclose exactly how excess profits tax was collected. It is estimated, however, that about $1,250,000,000, represented by the excess profits tax was collected. The collections in 1921 from miscellaneous taxes included all sources of revenue except income and amounted to $1,350,173,250, as against $1,250,000,000 in 1920, a decrease of $99,826,750.

The tax on beverages, 265,593 in the fiscal year 1921, as against $294,777, a decrease of $40,787,034.

The yield in the last fiscal year, however, was somewhat greater than for the fiscal year 1919, the present revenue act having become effective on Feb. 24, 1919.

The collections from income and profits taxes for the fiscal year 1921 amounted to $3,225,790,653, as against $2,994,098,003 in the fiscal year 1920 and $2,600,762,734 in the fiscal year 1919. The 1920 total represented an increase of $1,356,173,268 over the 1919 amount, but the 1921 total was a decrease of $731,145,350.

Income and Profits Taxes.

The yield from income and profits taxes for 1921 was slightly more than the treasury experts estimated last fall it would be. The treasury had counted on $3,200,000,000 from the income and profits taxes.

The figures made public today do not disclose exactly how much of the $3,225,790,653 was obtained from the excess profits tax. It is believed, however, that about $1,250,000,000 is represented by the excess profits tax, including collections of back taxes. The excess profits tax was roughly estimated to have yielded for the fiscal year 1920 slightly over $2,000,000,000. For the fiscal year 1921 it has been estimated that it will yield, including collections of back taxes, not more than $800,000,000.

The collections in the fiscal year 1921 from miscellaneous taxes, which include all sources of internal revenue except income and profits taxes, amounted to $1,368,210,112, as against $1,499,484,248 in the fiscal year 1920 and $1,239,468,260 in the fiscal year 1919.

The tax on beverages yielded $141,468,000 in the fiscal year 1921, as against $127,322,105 in the fiscal year 1920, a decrease of $40,787,034.

Less Tobacco Is Used.

The tax on cigars and tobacco produced $253,990,016 in the fiscal year 1921, as against $294,777,051 in 1920, a decrease of $40,787,034.

The tax on admissions and dues brought $95,882,345 in the fiscal year 1921, as against $81,918,556 in the previous year, an increase of $13,963,787.

The cost of operating the internal revenue bureau as estimated by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair is 18 cents for each $100 collected.

The receipts from the national prohibition act of Oct. 28, 1919, were $2,132,983 for the fiscal year 1921, as compared with $641,029 collected during the previous fiscal year after the law became effective.

SALVAGERS FIND
TWO YANK DEAD
IN ZR-2 WRECK

BY OTIS SWIFT.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright: 1921: By the Chicago Tribune.)

HULL, Aug. 28.—The air ministry tonight announced that in the course of salvage operations today the body of Lieut. Commander E. W. Coll of the United States navy was recovered.

At 10 o'clock tonight another large section of the salvage was raised and the body of aviation chief rigger, A. D. Pettit of Dickens City, Tex., was recovered. He apparently was killed by the explosion of the airship as he was found lying in his bunk.

Lieut. Commander Coll's body was found in the midst of the wreckage, with a parachute attached to him. Mrs. May Coll, the American officer's English wife, was waiting on the pier and identified the body.

Due to tides and shifting sands the feeling is growing here that few more bodies will be found, but the work was continued until a late hour tonight. Tomorrow Commodore Young, R. N., salvage expert, will arrive on the scene with two mine sweepers. More wreckage constantly is being hauled up.

It is announced America has accepted Great Britain's offer of a warship to convey the dead home and H. M. S. Dauntless will be assigned to the duty.

Heavy Fighting Reported
in Nicaragua Revolution

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 28.—

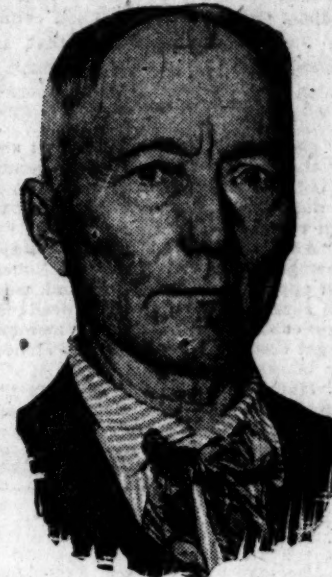

Heavy fighting between government forces and revolutionists is reported at El Sauce, fifty miles north of Leon. The government now has a large force of men under arms. Many persons have been arrested for political activities. Public use of the telegraph and telephone service has been discontinued. A strict watch is being kept on the Costa Rican frontier.

10,000 Honor Yankee

Dead on Hoboken Pier

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 28.—The largest crowd that has yet attended a memorial service for returned soldiers dead gathered today on the army pier to honor the bodies of 5,795 soldiers that arrived recently on the transport Wheaton. More than 10,000 attended the ceremonies, it was estimated.

Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, commanding the 1st corps area, Boston, was the principal speaker. The bodies, which were threatened with cremation by a fire on the pier last week, will be shipped to their former homes this week.

WASHINGTON NEWS
—IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28. Clifford Pinchot, president of the National Conservation association, calls Henry Ford's offer to take over the government's water power project at Muscle Shoals utterly unfair to the public, a violation of the conservation policy and water power law of the country, indefinite in its offer to the farmers, and wholly inadequate in its compensatory features.

President Harding is planning to call a national conference on unemployment, to be attended by representatives of labor and the leading groups of industries. The department of commerce has been commissioned to arrange the conference.

The report of the commissioner of internal revenue shows that collections from income and excess profits taxes for the fiscal year 1921 fell off three-fourths of a billion dollars from the collections in 1920.

Congress is to give early consideration to the issue of checking insurance of tax exempt securities. Senator Smoot already has pending a constitutional amendment giving authority for federal taxation of state, municipal, and other securities which are now exempt.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, in a letter to Senator Sheppard of Texas, says reduction of redempt rates of federal reserve bank notes to 3 1/2 per cent on Liberty bonds and 4 1/2 per cent on agricultural and commercial paper is out of the question.

Belgium Honors Legion;

Decorates Col. Foreman

BRUSSELS, Aug. 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—The members of the American Legion who have been visiting France were met today at the Belgian border by officials and escorted to Brussels. Brand Whitlock, the American minister, met them on their arrival here and accompanied them to the palace.

King Albert welcomed the visitors as "soldiers of the right" and expressed the gratitude of the Belgian nation for the aid given by the United States in the world war. He conferred a number of decorations, among them the rank of Officer of the Order of Leopold I, on Col. M. J. Foreman of Chicago.

FIVE MINERS
FALL IN BATTLE
IN W. VIRGINIA

State Police Headquarters, Ethel, W. Va., Aug. 28.—Five men fell in an encounter early this morning between an armed band and state troopers on Beach creek, Logan county, near the Boone-Logan county line. Capt. Brockus, commanding state police and deputy sheriffs, reported this afternoon.

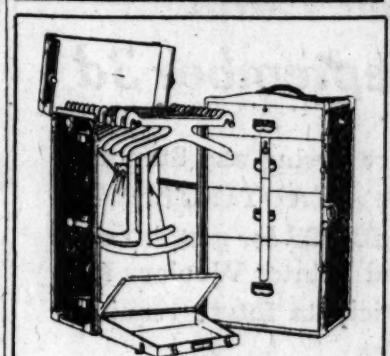

There was much shooting on each side, he said. Whether all the men who fell were killed, Capt. Brockus was unable to state. He added that the state troopers and deputies retired because some of their number were in civilian clothes and it was difficult to distinguish them from the men comprising the armed band.

Deputies Take Eleven Prisoners.

The clash was at close range, according to Capt. Brockus' report, the men firing at each other when but eight to ten feet apart. Prior to the fight, Capt. Brockus said, eleven prisoners had been taken by the patrolling party, which set out from Logan yesterday, ostensibly toward Blair and Sharples. Four of the prisoners escaped during the engagement, it was said, and one of them is believed to have been killed.

Capt. Brockus was at the head of the advance guard of twelve troopers and deputies that engaged the armed band.

Says Miners Fired First. "With the eleven prisoners we marched on toward Sharples and came upon another squad of five armed men," said Capt. Brockus. "Some one

WORDS OF CHEER
GIVEN TO ENGLAND
BY LLOYD GEORGE

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Prime Minister Lloyd George, while at Barmsey yesterday, said:

"I want the people of England in this dark hour of industrial depression to remember that England has passed through worse times. We shall pull through, and I want to proceed in that confidence."

"When I went to France recently the foreign minister said: 'You are an extraordinary people, the queerest in the world. You never do quite what we expect you to do, and never the sort of thing that we do. We don't understand you.'"

"That is the thing that is giving us confidence in Great Britain; it is a calm courage I want the British people to keep. Then we shall get through without troubles and keep on a steady path of common sense and experience. Keep up your courage and the world will come right."

called to us that we would not be allowed to pass. We called upon them to surrender their arms but received in reply a volley of shots.

"Our men returned the fire and five men fell. We waited until we saw they were picked up and carried away, and then discontinued the advance."

TELLS HOW SMALL DICTATED ACTS OF LEGISLATURE

Representative Castle
Bares Boss Rule.

BY PARKE BROWN.

State Representative Howard P. Castle of Barrington, one of the Cook county Republicans in the general assembly, has publicly charged Gov. Len Small with unprecedented usurpation of the functions of the legislative branch of the state government.

For the August number of the Legislative Voters' league's assembly bulletin, now on the press, he has written a discussion of the inside history of the last session of the assembly entitled "Executive Usurpation in Illinois."

Representative Castle recalls this attitude on Small's part by quoting an official statement issued by the governor when he was resisting arrest, which, in part read as follows:

"Representing, as I do, the supreme executive authority of this great commonwealth, vested in me by the constitution through the people, I have at no time intruded upon the functions of other branches of the government clothed in like manner with authority."

Castle's immediate comment on this declaration follows:

"I challenge the correctness of the declaration and I think the facts will bear me out."

How Speaker Was Chosen.

He then proceeds to relate the manner in which the executive branch of the government determined the selection of Gottfried A. Dahlberg as speaker of the house, selected the committees for his naming, and "nursed" the governor's bills throughout the session.

"For speaker," reads his article, "a known 'dry,' possessing fair ability had to be found who was acceptable to the Thompson-Lundin organization and who, presumably, would agree in advance to permit the governor to name such of the house committees as he desired and to give administration bills the right of way on the calendar."

Speaking of the methods used to get votes for Dahlberg, Castle writes: "If the promise of patronage proved insufficient, the governor's emissaries are reported to have gone further and to have threatened to oust from the state service some friend of the member whose vote was sought unless he could see his way clear to support the governor's candidate for speaker."

Hears Governor Named Committee.

Following the successful outcome of these tactics, the history continues: "With such a start, what followed was to be expected. Instead of taking the usual two or three weeks for the appointment of the standing committees, the speaker took five weeks during which the members, although making weekly trips to Springfield, could do practically nothing."

"This long delay was generally believed to be due to the insistence of the governor and the Lundin-Thompson organization that the committees be so constituted—especially those expected to deal with the governor's pet measures—that they would be certain to report these measures out with a favorable recommendation."

"The governor is reported to have named the very important appropriations committee in its entirety and to have chosen many of the committee chairmen.

"The governor's bills were given precedence over all others. With little or no consideration in committee these measures, many of them lengthy and complicated, were pushed to passage with no adequate explanation. Under a practice long established bills were not called in the order of placing on the calendar but according to the speaker's whims."

"These conditions prevailed in both houses until about two weeks before

Ex-President Attends Show; Able to Walk Unassisted

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—That Woodrow Wilson, former President of the United States, is steadily coming back into his own, physically, was demonstrated tonight. After having gone to see a vaudeville show at B. F. Keith's theater, walking into and out of the playhouse unassisted, he stood up in an open automobile, and waved his hat at the cheering crowd.

And, third, Fred Lundin, Mayor Thompson and Dr. John Dill Robertson appeared on the scene, and, using the speaker's room as their headquarters, commenced sending for members to get them into line for the governor's pet measures.

"Many of the legislators up to that time had never seen the first-named worthy, and when they did, his appearance and conduct alienated them."

Brother Paz, in his "Line o' Type or Two," on Friday, solemnly inquires "as to the whence" of our slogan No Orchestral Din.

Some time ago a musicians' organization made similar inquiry and expressed grievance. Paz, what would you have asseverated in reply?

Our answer was that the protest did grave injustice to a worthy body of worthy men, that we could not conceive that any person eligible to membership in a group so select could contribute to orchestral din, and that instead of objecting to our slogan the musicians should make our cause their cause. Down with orchestral din.

Paz, for your guidance along the road toward a healthy, happy and contented old age we say it, place no reliance in the claims for merit of the restaurant which needs must provide lures such as orchestral din.

Realize Exchange
Notes Is Useful

BULLETIN

DUBLIN, Aug. 28.—[Unofficial.]—Talk among official circles today of the dispatch of a delegation to open verbal negotiations with Prime Minister Lloyd George. The idea is growing in favor, it is believed the limit of an exchange of notes reached.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—[Unofficial.]—Members of the Daily Express today received an intimation that no further meetings of the Sinn Féin cabinet will be held until a full meeting of the parliament. Many of the members are on their way to their homes. The conversations between George and De Valera are continuing, and it is probable that De Valera will be dispatched to London early this week.

Daily Express Reply
The British premier's reply by his speech at Barmley created in strong terms that has been offered "more than offered in previous history," is considered by the Sinn Féin. In many quarters it is that Lloyd George's reply to De Valera to go to his own plebiscite on the question of peace or rejection of the government proposals.

If outward appearances are taken into consideration, the general sentiment of the Irish people is fear of any immediate term of negotiations and reversing the military lines. Members of the Irish republican army still in the streets of Dublin appear concerned over the future.

Enjoy Gay Picnic
A large party composed of the Irish parliament and friends, in the gayest of spirit, picnic excursion in a fleet car to Glendalough today, and sentiment prevailed throughout of Ireland.

Great significance is attached to the arrival in London of Sir James Craig, who is expected to confer with Lloyd George at length the next few days. It is rumoured that De Valera, himself, will appear on the scene during the next week.

SENATOR TELLS WHY REDS' RULE IN RUSSIA FAILS

Peasants Oppose Communism, France Says.

BY JOSEPH IRWIN FRANCE.
United States Senator from Maryland.
(Copyright, 1921, By the Baltimore Sun.)
ARTICLE NO. 2.

MOSCOW.—[By Mail.]—The only bad part about lofty ideals is the difficulty of getting them to function. Certainly there was nothing wrong in the theory of the communist's ideal state, where all men should work genuinely for the good of all and without hope of special selfish reward in money or goods or power. The only error was in the practice. It would not work; at any event it did not work in Russia.

The extreme communists offer various explanations. The blockade, the industrial prostration which existed in many places as a result of the war, the antagonism of conservative countries, the impotence of the communist elements in those countries, and half a dozen other reasons are offered. Then it is calmly stated by these same extremists that as soon as communist Russia has been put back on its industrial feet (by aid from capitalist countries, be it noted), there will be prompt and joyous resumption of the effort to abolish these capitalist governmental institutions.

Insolence of Extremists.
The insolence of these extremists, who are not prominent in Russia, is what makes it so difficult to arouse sympathy. Even the good Samaritan would hardly have bound up his brother's wounds and aided him financially if he had expected his brother to exterminate him immediately on recovery.

I am unperturbed, however, for I am convinced that extreme communism, at least so far as Russia's recent experiment is concerned, is over. The Russian extremists may about this present adoption of tried, conservative capitalist policies is only temporary. Some of them may be better what they say. But they are utterly mistaken. Never will they be able to retrace the steps taken this spring and summer. And so when they talk about biting us a few years hence, when they regain their strength, they are merely talking foolishly. It will not be done, because peasant Russia, now in possession of the land, is for that reason become conservative, and will never permit a reversion to the economic blunders of 1917-20.

Momentous Changes of 1921.

The total collapse of Russia's experiment in extreme communism began on March 26, 1921. On that day was issued the decree of the council of people's commissars fixing a "tax in kind" as a substitute for the seizure of grain; on the same day was issued the decree permitting free trade "for personal use, not for resale," the prohibition portion of which has been ignored. Here, then, in a single day were officially abandoned the fundamentals of communism.

It is interesting to note the rapidity with which this abandonment of the principle on which communism is founded was succeeded by a throwing overboard of related principles and the formal repudiation of precisely antagonistic principles. On April 9 the cooperative establishments throughout Russia were revived, although a year before "communist principle" had compelled their restriction, which meant their practical extinction. Then comes the decree which reassures the peasants that the land distributed among them, whether by earlier purchase or following confiscation of the large estates, would remain their individual possession.

Next in the Cities.
Thus far, it is seen, the scuttling of "communist principle" is to gratify the peasantry. 100,000,000 strong, whose support Lenin was wise enough to see his government must have if it is to persist. But now communism begins to scuttle other vital principles, affecting not the peasant, but the city worker. On April 9 appears the decree granting extra pay to workmen who produce large amounts, which is precisely what the communists used to call "slave driving" when it was done by the hated capitalist employer.

Then comes the right of the workman to find his own job instead of being ordered by his government to work in a designated part of a designated factory. The workman had found that he was not always pleased to have even a workers' government govern his personal affairs, and his protest compelled the concessions.

Now in July comes one of the most extraordinary decrees, which formally permits the possession of money and its normal use, even its placing in bank, a definite admission that property right, profit, retention of unexpended wealth and accumulation of it—in fact, capitalism in its essence—will hereafter be recognized if not encouraged.

CHARGE NEGRO WITH MURDER.
Ernest Campbell, colored, 30 years old, died yesterday morning of injuries received when he was struck over the head early yesterday by Nelson Murtin, also colored, 1933 Belmont place. Murtin was booked at the Maxwell street police station on a charge of murder.

KITCHENETTE APARTMENTS

Kitchenette apartments of 2, 3, 4 and 5 rooms, $125 to $450 a month. Rooms without kitchenette, $25 a week and up, same rate for two persons as for one. Private bath, including both tub and shower, attached to every unit.

Hotel Somerset is setting new standards of value for those seeking Fall and Winter residence. The rates include complete service, and it is thought that the accommodations are of higher quality than may be had in any other hotel in Chicago at the same cost.

Restaurant service a la carte, also table d'hôte dinner, week days, $1; Sundays, $1.25, beginning at 6 o'clock.

In point of accessibility, and in other respects, the location of Hotel Somerset is especially favored. It is sheltered alike from the chill Fall and Winter winds and from the noise of busy street intersections.

You are invited to be our guest today on a tour of inspection of Chicago's pleasantest hotel.

CLOTHING IS NOW SOLD AT BOTH STORES

AN EARLY FALL?

We're Ready

ROBINS are flocking, katydids are chirping, cottonwood leaves are scattering from the trees, and the milkman feels the tang of autumn in the early morning air.

Weather-wise ones say we're going to have an early Fall and a hard Winter.

We're ready for it. Our Summer sales are over. Odds and ends are all cleaned out. And our Fall stocks are here.

We're carrying on our $45 line of clothing, as we promised you we would. It grows richer and fuller as it grows older.

Some men like English suits—very hard to find in ready-to-wear. We have put in a line of very fine ones, for Fall and Winter. You may find just what you have always wanted. At $75.

Clothing is now sold at both Chicago stores—Michigan at Monroe and Hotel Sherman.

Hats are here, too. The Boulevard is back to $5—where it used to be, and where we've put it just as soon as we could. We've "hunched" a little on it, at that—taken a smaller profit, which means a bigger hat value for you compared with hats it supplants.

And so on throughout the store—fresh, full stocks of fine Fall goods—shirts, hosiery, neckties, underwear, etc.

With Autumn golfing features in the Sport Shop, downstairs, at Michigan and Monroe.

The checks are given as a reward for continuous service. The total of this distribution was $7,000 under that of the previous week.

Auto; Crossing; Train; 4 in One Family Killed

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 28.—Four members of the same family were killed tonight when their automobile was struck at Vantine's crossing, one mile south of here, by a passenger train on the Central railroad of New Jersey. They were Dr. Americo D'Amico, his grandmother, his sister, and his niece, all of Somerville.

Made by the Makers of Eversharp

The reason you have heard nothing but praise for the Wahl Fountain Pen is because we are so particular in making it.

It comes out of the same factory that makes the famous Eversharp, and it is as good a pen as Eversharp is a pencil.

THREE DEAD HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Cyrena Van Gordon of Opera, Injured

Three persons died and were injured as the result of an accident yesterday afternoon. Cyrena Van Gordon, 30, of the Chicago Grand Opera, was in a hysterical condition at the result of an accident Friday evening. Dr. S. B. Munns, an eye specialist with offices at 30 E. Van Avenue, is also at the hospital. They were seriously injured. They were with Charles N. Thomas, 3000 South La Salle street, killed against a street car at the intersection of the street and the trolley. Miss Van Gordon was thrown from the trolley. She received a blow on the head which has slightly fractured the skull.

Oak Park Policeman
Sergeant Frank Krueger, Oak Park police force, was killed by a truck on Ontario street at the intersection of Oak Park. The truck was hurrying in response to an alarm. Lombard avenue speedster crashed the way for a car. At the intersection of the street crashed full into the motorcycle, dragging him and tearing his right leg off. The truck finally stopped at a lamp. John Arthur Schoff, 1035 East 87th street, was injured when she was hit at Commercial avenue by a car driven by Joseph Mishau. She died at her home. Perry Beeman, a farmer, was injured when he was hit by a machine on Michigan after he had left the Park. John Trumbull of the Chicago Police, was arrested. The crash of two automobiles and May streets resulted in a possible skull fracture for both. 822 South Loomis street, 2141 Calumet, Jr. 1133 Green street, 17-year-old driver of the machine, was arrested.

Entire Family Injured
Daniel Kennedy of 4006 W. street and his wife and four children were hurt when the taxicab they were riding smashed graph post at Western avenue. A jammed steering wheel caused the accident. The collision of another taxicab with the Kennedy car resulted in the death of the chauffeur.

Civil War Veteran by Street Car
Daniel McCabe, 75, 3058 S. street, a civil war veteran, was hurt yesterday afternoon when struck by a north bound street car in front of his home. The police said McCabe was crossing the street when struck. McCabe had been in the street for sixty years.

THREE DEAD, 17 HURT IN DAY'S AUTO CRASHES

Cyrena Van Gordon, Star of Opera, Injured.

Three persons died and seventeen were injured as the result of automobile accidents yesterday.

Cyrena Van Gordon, prima donna of the Chicago Grand Opera company, is in a hysterical condition at Mercy hospital as the result of an automobile accident Friday evening. Her husband, S. B. Munns, an eye and ear specialist with offices at 20 North Michigan avenue, is also at the hospital, seriously injured. They were riding with Charles N. Thomas, a broker of 103 South La Salle street, whose car crashed against a street car.

Van Gordon was thrown to the ground by the tonneau. Her husband received a blow on the head and his arm is slightly fractured.

Oak Park Policeman Killed.

Sgt. Frank Krueger, of the Oak Park police force, was killed yesterday when his motorcycle was hit by a fire truck at Ontario street and Lombard avenue, Oak Park.

The truck was hurrying eastward in response to an alarm. South on Lombard avenue sped Sgt. Krueger, clearing the way for a fire engine. At the intersection of the streets the truck crashed full into the policeman's motorcycle, dragging him for 100 feet and leaving his right leg off above the knee. The truck finally stopped when it smashed into a lamp post. The driver buckled and fell, narrowly missing Capt. Arthur Schoff and Pipeman John Szwedinski.

Child Meets Death.

Six-year-old Clementine Woynowski, 823 East 87th street, was fatally injured when she was hit at 82d street and Commercial avenue by a machine driven by Joseph Mishau, 5046 Marquette avenue. She died a few minutes later at her home.

Perry Beeman, a farmer from Lebanon, Ind., died in St. Luke's hospital when a fractured skull received Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a machine on Michigan avenue, just after he had left the Park Row station. John Trumbull, of 422 South Broadway avenue, Oak Park, the driver, was arrested.

The crash of two automobiles at Taylor and May streets resulted in a possible skull fracture for Geo. Pasch, 823 South Loomis street. Pasch, Calmalse, Jr., 713 South Aberdeen street, 17-year-old driver of the other machine, was arrested.

Entire Family Injured.

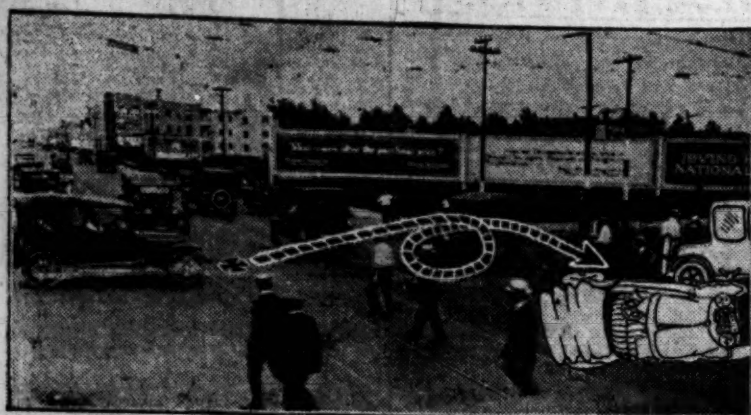

Daniel Kennedy of 4006 West Monroe street and his wife and five children were hurt when the taxicab in which they were riding smashed into a telephone post at Western and Archer streets. A jammed steering wheel, according to Joseph Baron, 5013 North Loomis avenue, the driver, was responsible for the accident.

The collision of another cab with a small street car resulted in bruises for Samuel Schaller, 2141 Humboldt boulevard, the chauffeur.

War Veteran Hit by Street Car; Killed

Daniel McCabe, 75, 3058 South State street, civil war veteran, was killed yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a north bound State street car in front of his home. Witnesses told the police that McCabe had stepped from a south bound car and was crossing the street when he was struck. McCabe had been a resident of the First ward for sixty years.

AN AUTO'S SOMERSAULT

This photo-diagram shows how three men and four women were cut and bruised in a spectacular collision at Crawford and Lawrence avenues yesterday afternoon. A car piloted by Joseph Mirokt, 1521 Tell place, collided with one driven by Oscar Stone, 4811 North St. Louis avenue. Fourteen-year-old Antoinette Krygier, a niece of Mirokt, was thrown out of her uncle's machine as it turned a complete somersault. She was badly hurt, but the other occupants received only cuts and bruises from flying bits of windshield. The other car was crushed against a lamp post. The Maltese cross shows where the cars collided.

Socialists Pin Hopes on Depressed U. S. Conditions

New York, Aug. 28.—Unemployment, the housing situation, and the cost of living are the issues upon which the Socialist party expects to increase its vote this year, according to Morris Hillquit, one of the leaders of the party, who in 1917 polled more than 150,000 votes in the mayoralty election.

French Liner Paris Afire; Several Cabins Burned Out

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
HAVRE, Aug. 28.—The French liner Paris was on fire early this morning. The crew and fire apparatus from shore quenched the flames and the damage was slight. The Paris will be enabled to sail on Sept. 3, as scheduled. Several cabins were burned.

GOMPERS URGES ROLE FOR LABOR IN DISARM MEET

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 28.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, tonight made public his appeal to the labor movements of the nations that are to participate in the forthcoming disarmament conference in Washington to prevail upon their respective governments to have labor represented upon their delegations.

"The proposal to discuss means of lightening the tremendous burden of armament," said President Gompers in a statement accompanying the correspondence, "is one which interests the working people above others. From them came the first protests against enormous armament."

Mr. Gompers stated that President Harding at a conference with him had also "expressed himself as being favorably impressed with this suggestion."

Authentic Autumn Apparel

There's an incredibly short span of time from Paris to Chicago
... almost a matter of hours ... when Blackstone Shop modes appear so opportunely to interpret correct fashions.

Would you like to know
what's what in frocks?

The charm of simplicity is a reigning feature of the latest modes. Soft, colorful fabrics ... black, also black and various color combinations still hold sway. Unusual lace and fur trimmings ... low waistlines ... a trifle longer skirts. See them in this shop ... 'tis better than merely reading of them.

It's well to know that moderate prices invariably prevail in this shop!

Autumn millinery has its notes of newness!

Fashion has been somewhat impartial in the designing of the new millinery concepts. Large hats ... of velvet and satin antique, with graceful brims ... trimmed with ostrich.
Small hats ... of velvet ... artfully decorated with ornaments and laces.
A variety that truly fascinates, as you will agree when you see them.

PERHAPS WISE POLITICALLY, BUT—

Tax revision, as the house ways and means committee has devised it and given it to the senate, affords relief at the bottom of the pyramid and at the top. Both at the bottom and the top of incomes there are organizations, communities of interest, groups and solidarity of interest.

At the top are organizations of money; at the bottom organizations of labor. The house has granted reductions in taxation to heads of families with incomes under $3,900. The reduction calculated for a married taxpayer, without considering exemption for dependents, is $20 a year. That reduces a tax of $24 to $4 and one of $76 to $56. The relief in the first case almost wipes out the taxes and in the latter is a real relief.

The revision thereupon jumps from this classification over a great middle classification and resumes its functions when it reaches incomes of $66,000 and over. From that point upward there is a reduction of surtaxes which will cut down the wealthy man's burden with increasing reduction as his income increases. The government has taken as high as 62 per cent of a man's income.

It is now proposed to take no more than 32 per cent in surtaxes on any income.

At the top of the income classification there are organizations of men with money. They are called various things, all of which are grouped, in the convenient terms of radicalism, under the one term capitalism.

These organizations, loose or tight, are capable of acting together just as the organizations of low salaried men are capable of working together. Many farmers will be found in the class under $3,900. The farmers will say this year that they all will be found there. There also will be artisans and laborers, many trades union men, etc. Any married taxpayer who earns $75 a week will find a substantial reduction in his taxation, one which will impress him as a decided change and which, presumably, will incline him towards the authority which helped him out.

In this classification of incomes is really what the politicians know as the "vote" of the country. There is the man with the dinner pail, the farmer with a Ford or with a phonograph, and nearly all the people who have a vote of some kind every two or four years and causing landslides.

At the top are the organizations which finance political campaigns, the men of comfortable incomes who take alarm at ideas and give to campaign funds which will be devoted to what they hope will be sound, conservative government.

The very wise tax revisionists, very wise politically, have given the contributors reason to rejoice that the surtax is down from a possible 62 to a maximum of 32 and have given the "vote" reason to think that a conservative government has lifted a burden. The "vote" may look at its own 320 reduction and not glare at the reduction in the surtax on the top incomes.

We do not put it past the politically wise congressmen to have had an eye upon this possible development, squinting at the top and then at the bottom. But what of the taxpayers who earn more than $4,000 and less than $66,000? Nothing of them. They go on as before, partly because of the three classifications they are the least important politically. They do not kick into campaign funds heavily and they do not kick over tickets. They vote usually by formula. Most of them, we imagine, are Republicans and they are expected to go on being Republicans and the Democrats to go on being Democrats.

They are not organized except politically, and politically they are supposed to be set in their ways and habits of thought. Occasionally they do something, such as turning Progressive, but that is only once in a while's age. Sometimes they are called the bone and sinew of the nation, but sometimes we think the bone is chiefly in the head. Anyway, they will stand for it and they will have a stand for it if the present scheme of revision is considered sound and foolproof by the revisionists.

AMERICAN SPORTS REVISED.

For the benefit of such readers of THE TRIBUNE as rely upon this department for sporting intelligence, irritation, and causes of dismay and anger we are willing to make some concessions. We hope our Davis cup holders are defeated by the Japanese, or the Australians, or, if possible, by both. The gratification of having them defeated by either would be great; that of having them defeated by both, or by a mixed team, would be thrilling.

We hope Mlle. Lengien meets Mrs. Mallory and defeats her. We believe she can defeat the American, who has the additional advantage of being a Norwegian, as easily here as she did in France. Then we believe that Mlle. Lengien ought to play Tilden and defeat him.

We think that Dempsey ought to go abroad and meet a few European champions. If he meets Beckett we believe Beckett can whale him. Charlie Mitchell virtually whipped Sullivan and Beckett can trim Dempsey. Carpenter knocked Jack out in the second round, but the so-called American is so slow on his feet that no one knew except the referee that he was out standing up, and merely did not fall over, the lucky stiff. A Binet-Simon test applied at that juncture in the second round would have proved that he had the intelligence of a seven year sleeper in the third year.

We believe that if Americans should not be too proud to fight they ought to be too proud to win. It gives them a bad name at home and abroad. It makes them un-American. A colonial status will become them. They may make game fellows and good sportsmen if they are graceful losers. They never could get anywhere as winners if they could win.

KEEP THE COALITION.

The local Democratic leadership will be foolish if it allows premature expectations of a reverse in national politics to tempt it into giving up coalition with anti-Tammany Republicans. There is much excitement throughout political blunders supposed to be in the making at Washington, but these are highly colored hopes, not facts, and to give up the substantial advantages of the coalition for a gamble on possible Republican mistakes would be trading substance for shadow. Before the next congressional election it is more than likely the tide will have turned toward prosperity and Republican measures and policies which have assisted the turn will not be objects of congratulation among Democrats, as some of them are now rather hastily taken to be.

We realize that personal interests will play a part in the policy of leadership, but the reasons for organizing coalition are as strong today as they were last spring. The Democratic and anti-Tammany Republican leaders are really on trial before the best elements of the community which gave them an overwhelming victory at the June election. They owe a duty to Chicago to leave nothing undone to bring an end to the Tammany power which in city and state is wasting the public money, piling up the public debt, debauching the public service and poisoning public opinion with appeals to class prejudice and buncombe programs which are only camouflage for misgovernment and loot.

The Tammany strength is waning because facts are coming to light showing its methods and objects. But the "cohesive power of public plunder" is not easily broken and there should be no division among the forces which are fighting it.

AN INVENTOR WHO INVENTED.

In the death of Peter Cooper Hewitt, American scientist and electrical inventor, THE TRIBUNE, with others, mourns the loss of an inventor who spent his time inventing.

His obituary cites four fundamental products of his genius. Neither his obituary nor, so far as our memory serves us, the history of his life contains any record of his having used his wide fame and high reputation to obtain circulation of moral platitudes for the uplift of his countrymen. He invented the vaporized mercury electric lamp and thereby provided a practical light for the work of millions of hands. He made no effort to convert that light into a sermon.

He was a scientist with the single purpose of developing the benefits of his science. He invented, and let it go at that. We mourn his loss.

LABOR AND THE SCHOOLS.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor plans to take a hand in the conduct of the nation's public schools whereby the viewpoint of organized labor may be brought before the pupils to offset alleged propaganda in opposition to labor.

We can readily understand the desire of leaders of organized labor to impregnate the children of the nation with their ideas, but we are somewhat doubtful of the accuracy of their statement that misleading textbooks have been prepared and are in use to advance sentiment for the "open shop."

Our public schools are designed to give the fundamentals of education. It is natural that any class or creed should want to have its theories included among these fundamentals during the important formative stage of the child's mind and character. That would make it much easier to direct the activities of the adult in the direction desired.

But, after all, sympathy for union labor or the "open shop" is not so important to the child as the three "R's" and closely allied subjects. If, as the executive council charges but which we doubt, anti-organized labor propaganda has been injected into the public schools, it ought to be ejected. But the proper way to eject it is through closer supervision of textbooks and teachers, not by injecting a counter propaganda in favor of organized labor.

Sound economics give a place to organized labor. Organization has overcome many abuses for the workingman. It will overcome more if the workingman does not substitute abuses of others for those of himself which he has eliminated. To those of himself which he has eliminated. To those of himself which he has eliminated.

Two things stand out prominently in former Senator Lewis' speech of warning on the disarmament conference—first, that the European powers are coming to it with blood on their hands, and far from repentant, and, second, that they obey the call of the United States because every last one of them is in debt to us in one way or another and would attend a conference on short skirts if Washington called it.

It is, as Mr. Lewis says, a summoning of blood-thirsty enemies who sit in council to determine the length of their guns and how long sword blades can be made by law. They do not come in chastened spirits to see how far the world will go in scrapping its navies and disbanding armies, but for regulation of those fighting arms.

Mr. Lewis' conception of the disarmament conference contains about equal amounts of truth and fiction. His suggestion that the nations attempt to locate and settle their grievances as a preliminary step to disarmament is very good, but it would involve the remaking of the peace treaty and establishing new boundary lines for the nations that were carved out of Europe. Grievances Europe always has, and nothing short of perfection could make her, and nothing short of perfection could make her boundaries fit her races without causing trouble.

If we attempt to settle Europe's grievances for her it will be a herculean task. It is better to view the disarmament conference as another departure from our "splendid isolation" policy, and if the nations will merely weigh their grievances and purge their hearts of imperialistic notions the meeting will accomplish all that is expected of it. As a step in mutual bargaining it is the ahead of the diplomatic methods that Europe has clung to for centuries in settlement of her troubles.

Only the idealists find elements of perfection in what we have set out to do. But it is an adventure in international bargaining to adjust world troubles instead of having the chancelleries of Europe fly at each other's throats without justified pretext, and, viewed in that light, the conference should be helpful, even though it falls short of results.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

TO MY FIRST (AMERICAN) EDITION OF WALTON'S ANGLER.

Quaint little book of perennial cheer,
May days on up throughout the whole year;
How swiftly you speed the dreariest day,
Taking my fancy off and away.
Here in the pipe smoke and easiest chair,
Quickly you whisk me to blue days and fair;
There to big trout I give lusty battle,
(That's not a street car, it's my reel's rusty rattle)
And thus speed serene the day's golden hours.
Amid culverkeys, lady smocks, sweet gilliflowers.

LARRY SIN JIN.

THE Chicago Band rendered an interesting number at the County Hospital concert: "St. Patrick Was a Gentleman" (with variations).

THE SECOND POST.

Dear Sir: Don't send me nothing until I write to you. I am sick. I can't sell nothing.

The first act of the new janitor of the building next door to N. M. was to remove the "Janitor" plate from the hallway bell and to substitute "Custodian," he being from Boston.

BORES.

I hate Bore. They spoil my fun. There are the Hundreds of girls know: misundrestood darlings who need a dose of cold water from the garden hose; who insist on showing us the new dance steps and continue to ruin our best slippers; and who keep saying, "You're such a Sensible Girl; I wish Ruth were more like you."

There are the Maiden Ladies of Forty-five; who congregate on the piazza of summer resorts and compare missing parts of the anatomy; who rock spasmodically and gossip continually; and who are Always Looking for the Right Man. That may be why they never find him. He sees 'em first.

There are Old Men of Eighteen; who are so weary of this wicked world; who know Women; who vary their hair down their necks; and who know how to dance all night in one spot, yet who wouldn't know how to bat a fish-hook or use a landing-net.

There are the Young Men who cabaret (on the q. t.) with the sub-deb granddaughters of their business acquaintances; who dye their hair, and quote lines of rubbish about "pearly teeth, ruby lips," etc., and infatuate, and who think they're kidding the world, when Mr. World and His Wife are really having an awfully good laugh at them.

INScribed upon one of the pages of the United States Tilt historical bulletin board at Goshen, Mass.: "Goshen was the birthplace of Bert-Leston Taylor (B. L. T.), humorist and conductor of a column in The Chicago Tribune (1891-'03, 1909-'21), headed 'A Line o' Type or Two,' the best 'column' of its kind in America."

OVERTONES.
So softly sang a bird,
So gently flowed the stream,
The overtones I heard
Perchance was but a dream.

One spoke so sweet and low,
And went so soon away,
My heart will never know
What thrilled it yesterday.

LAURA BLACKBURN.

BUT to the devil with literature, I am sick of it. What the deuce care I for Goshen? What the deuce care I for bad? Yesterday I met a chap who wears a white shirt and tie, and a "A ripping good dinner," he says, "get a skunkful of champagne inside you, go to bed when it is light, and get up when you are rested." This seemed to me as concise as it is admirable; indeed, there is little to add to it. A note or two concerning women might come in, but I don't know, "a skunkful of champagne" implies everything.

O, you mean Robinson Crusoe, don't you? Mercy, no! Robinson Crusoe is the sailor hero of Defoe's tale, "Robinson Crusoe," one of the most widely read of all modern books, published 1719. If you have not read it, and care to do so, you have many a delightful hour ahead of you. It may be procured at the library.

You're Right; Sit Down.

Sir: What would you call Period furniture, or any other article in season, these days? Jacobean, Elizabethan, Queen Anne—such has ousted its vogue and yet the imitations foisted upon the lachrymose public by shrewd furniture dealers continue to be in good taste. This is in America a bellwether age.

But what I wish to ask is: One hundred years hence will there be imitations of today's products? I think not, for the very excellent reason that our stylomakers see to it that no article shall be of permanent design.

The land of the free! Bah! We live under a dictatorship in clothes, furniture, and automobiles that is absolute. The style's the thing. You are probably wearing a silk shirt today because it is Sunday.

LESS BEER; LESS SUNSTROKE.
In the vicinity where this is written we have passed through a very hot sunstroke without having the expected amount of sunstroke.

The season is about over and the number of deaths from sunstroke in Chicago is about twenty-three. The number of cases of sunstroke treated in Cook county hospital was ten.

In 1916 the weather was very hot and the number of deaths from sunstroke was 335. The number of cases treated in Cook county hospital was 253, according to Dr. Meyer, medical superintendent and assistant warden, who as the result of his experience in that year wrote a valuable paper on sunstroke.

In July, 1916, the number of deaths was 241. In July, 1921, it was nineteen.

The weather bureau informs me that June, 1921, had an average temperature of 74 degrees above the normal. That for July was 8.8 degrees above normal, and that of July was the warmest on record. It broke all records. Up to the time the information was finished August was running a fraction of a degree below the mean.

The July ranking next in heat to that of 1921 was that of 1916. Why the drop from 58 deaths in 1916 to about twenty-three in 1921? A part of it, and a big part, is due to the relatively small amount of beer and whiskey consumed in the summer of 1921. In the old days the workman drank beer from time to time to satisfy his thirst.

In 1916 I dubbed sunstroke "beerstroke," and I was right. Not that all sunstroke is due to beer, however.

Edward Hall, who writes authoritatively on the subject, says the deaths in the Black Hole of Calcutta commonly laid to carbonic acid were due to heat stroke. He says a hot, moist atmosphere with a wet bulb temperature of 80 degrees and a relative humidity of 80 per cent is a deadly combination.

If the air is blowing at the rate of two miles an hour the wet bulb temperature must reach 90 to cause sunstroke. If the man is doing hard work he becomes subject to heat stroke when the wet bulb temperature records 80.

In New York heat stroke condition, and the air temperature reaches 80 and the humidity 80. When the air is hot and dry no one is subject to heat stroke, except those whose sweating mechanism is insufficient or who are exhausted.

Men vary in their susceptibility to heat. Intemperance contributes greatly to the fatigue of the heat regulating apparatus.

PROBABLY NOT; YES.

SOCIALIST RULE MAKES YUCATAN CHAOS OF CRIME

Mission to Obregon Complains of Anarchy.

BY J. H. CORNYN.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright, 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 28.—Yucatan has become a land of anarchy under the government, or lack of govern- ment, of the extreme Socialist party. This is the verdict of a committee of prominent citizens of the state capital, who, this week, waited on the president of the republic with a memorial stat- ing the conditions existing in the home of the Mayas. Their rule is one of extreme terrorism; and one complains against the existing conditions at the risk of his life.

Although solid as a body, the social- ists appear to be lacking in all the elements of social or political govern- ment, for the reason that they are al- most altogether composed of people in the lower ranks of life, led by agitators and advocates of terrorism and the destruction of the existing order of so- ciety. The intelligent thoughtful ele- ment of the state is extremely anti- socialist. Among the agitators of Yu- catan are men who, it is said, on ac- count of their subversive doctrines, had to leave the capital, where the effects of their extreme socialist teachings are still being felt.

Only One Safe Place.

One of the members of the Yucatan commission said:

"Throughout all Yucatan there is only one place, Merida, that is safe, and this is only a comparative safety: for even here one takes his life in his hand, if he ventures to criticize any of the acts of the Socialists, or even if he is suspected of being opposed to them."

"The simplest elements of govern- ment in Yucatan are thoroughly dis- organized, and the only protection that one may expect outside Merida, is the strong arm of force. So, every one goes armed, who has the money with which to buy the cheapest pistol or musket. Armed and in strength the Socialists are both able and willing to terrorize. Like wolves, they hunt in packs; but it is rarely that one, caught alone, is willing to show fight."

Industry Is Dead.

"Industrial life is almost dead in Yucatan, and the few farmers and planters, bolder and more resourceful than their fellows, who still continue to cultivate their lands, do so at the constant risk of their lives. When they send to the neighboring towns or to the capital for funds with which to pay their help, they know that the chances are about even that the money never will reach them and that the mes- senger sent for it may be murdered on the way."

"Groups of Indians, who have no work, on account of the suspension of activities on more than 70 per cent of the ranches and plantations of the state, band together, in numbers from six to a score or more and calling themselves Socialists, take to the highway to rob, pillage and murder, just as their fel- lows, of more pretentious organization, pillage, rob, murder and terrorize, in the towns and cities in the name of Socialism and brotherhood."

On Verge of Starvation.
"The result of this condition of af- fairs is even worse than the news- papers have pictured it. In a land of plenty, we are literally on the verge of starvation. Financial ruin is already upon us; and no one has the where- withal to pay his debts; for the credit of the state is less than zero; since most of those who are willing to carry on bar industries and activities are either wholly ruined or in debt."

"It is the opinion of the commis- sion, as presented to the president of the republic and its expressed publicly by individual members, that peace can come to Yucatan, and with it proper government, with safety and public guarantees for all, only through the interference in the affairs of the state by the federal authorities."

"The present financial crisis, it is said, is to be laid at the door of the Socialists, who, being in possession of the state government, have raised the export price of henequen so high that it is impossible to export it."

"EASY TO FREE MADELYNN," HER ATTORNEY SAYS

BY EDWARD J. DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Attorney Paul W. Schenck arrived in Los Angeles today and took charge of the defense in the case of Madelynn Obenchain and Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy.

The defense until this afternoon has been without a directing head, and has given no hint as to the method it intended to use in fighting the prosecution, though it was declared that Burch had an alibi on which he would base his fight.

Schenck had little to say. He has been engaged in a murder case in Flagstaff, Ariz. He lost it. The defendant was sentenced to be hanged. "It's an easy case to beat," said Schenck. "So far as I can see the state really has no case. Some things look queer, but everything will be satisfactorily explained."

He was met by Ralph Obenchain and Richard Kirtle, associated with Schenck, and the trio went at once to the county jail, where Madelynn, still reported ill, and Burch waited to confer with their chief counsel.

Burch says he has unlimited confidence in Schenck. "We couldn't have found a better lawyer," he said. "He has won most of the murder cases in which he has appeared. Those he lost would not have been won, and he was frank in telling his clients so."

Some one remarked that the state had built up a hard case to knock over. Whereupon Burch repeated the statement made to "The Tribune" correspondent more than a week ago.

"All the state has," he said, "is a circumstantial evidence case. They cannot find any motive on my part, and without a motive there can be no conviction. As to Mrs. Obenchain, she could not possibly have had a motive. And there you are."

UNCONGENIAL?

Mrs. Ruth Turner Martin, concerning whom her husband sought the advice of the police.

MRS. Ruth Turner Bishop Martin, called "my cavewoman wife" by James Wright Martin Jr., former Loyola football star, was sought by the East Chicago avenue police last night for possible information regarding a fusillade of shots her husband says whistled past him Saturday night as he stood with his sister at State and Division streets. The Martins have been separated three months.

The police also called at 15 East Goethe street, the home of Joseph Battersby, a real estate dealer, whom the husband says, has been seen with Mrs. Martin. Battersby was not at home. Mrs. Martin was the widow of Col. Henry Lathrop Turner, intimate friend of Col. Roosevelt. Then she was married to Harry S. Bishop of New York, but was divorced in June, 1919.

PEGGY, WALKING GEM SHOP, AGAIN HITS HIGH SPOTS

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) [Copyright, 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.] PARIS, Aug. 28.—Abandoning the discreet, office confinement which marked the first days of her return to Paris, Peggy Hopkins Joyce is once more seen nightly in the cafe, restaurants, and dancing places where she was an habituée last winter with her husband.

A frail, pale, stoop shouldered young man, reported to be Cuban or a South American, wearing a mourning arm band, is Peggy's inseparable companion, and his big Rolls-Royce limousine can be seen standing outside the night restaurants of Montmartre until the early morning hours.

Peggy quietly slipped out of the Majestic hotel, not leaving her new address, but sending her companion for her letters, and is now living at the Hotel Durkin, where the mysterious young man also has rooms. The magnificent jewelry her husband gave her once more adorns Peggy's throat, arms, and fingers, having been withdrawn from safety deposit boxes at the Morgan-Harjes bank.

Wearing five ropes of pearls, twenty-five bracelets, and the famous giant diamond and emerald rings, Peggy and her mysterious man friend imbibed cocktails at Claridge's and later dined at Ciro's tonight.

Rail Income Bettered at Expense of Repairs

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The association of railway executives made public tonight an analysis of earnings for the first six months of 1921, in which stress is laid on the assertion that the increased net income shown, as compared with the similar period of 1920, was due largely to a decrease in expenses for maintenance and repair work which will have to be resumed if traffic recovers. Concerning the net incomes for the first six months of 1921 the analysis states: "During these six months railways of class I should have earned $477,286,000 in net operating income to attain a 6 per cent basis. They actually earned $128,912,000, a shortage of $348,374,000, or 73 per cent."

Dumas' Immortal Story of Adventure, Romance, Chivalry and Courage! More Action Than in All Other Fairbanks Pictures Together! Thrills Galore! Fire and Passion! Fights and Heart Throbs!

By EDWARD
KNOBLOCK

Out of the shadows of the past
As from a faded tapestry
Of time's procession slow and vast,
I step to bid you hear with me,
The while your fancy I engage
To look upon another age.

Lo! from the South of Sunny France
There rides a champion keen as steel,
Whose courage snatches every chance
To make the boldest plotter kneel;
Tid D'Artagnan of dauntless youth,
Straight stabs his blade, demanding truth.

An age, when on the human tide
The plumed waves of chivalry
Rose to its summit, as wide
Across a nation's mighty sea;
France never shows a brighter power
Than in this high, romantic hour.

So follow me to France of old,
To fiery days when hearts beat high,
When blood was young, and hate
Was bold,
When sword crossed sword to dare
and die;
For love and honor gloried then,
When life was life, and men were men!

—Edward Knoblock

ONLY REAL JOBS WITH REAL PAY FIT FOR HEROES

Commission Offers Work
More Hardships.

The Tribune prints each day on its editorial page a department of the Friend of the Ex-Service Man.

"Say It With Jobs."

BY CAPT. T. J. BONNIWELL,
[Friend of the Ex-Service Man.]

While there has been a gratifying increase in the numbers of employers who have listed jobs for ex-service men at THE TRIBUNE's place, more and more veterans are finding employment, one development not so encouraging has been noted.

This is the increasing number of commission jobs, some legitimate and some not, which are offered the jobless war heroes.

Commission jobs are not suitable for men in financial straits. They cannot attack the selling propositions with the same vigor with which they can dig into the propositions. Nor can they distance themselves until the commissions begin to be paid.

For these reasons and also to protect the men themselves from being deceived, there being no time to investigate such propositions, a general ruling has been made by the bureau against the listing of such offers of employment.

Some employers operating along legitimate commission bases have grown indignant when their offers have been turned down, but if they could know of the numerous ex-soldiers who have been victimized through fake commission jobs, this would not be the case.

Two men, for instance, were employed as machinists on commissions in a local garage. At the end of the week the owner refused to pay them anything. The men, already discouraged, were thrown further into the dumps by this experience.

The Sample Case Dodge.

Others have been forced to dig up cash deposits to guarantee return of sample cases only to find that when the deposits were wanted back, either they were unable to get them or substantial amounts were withheld because of scratches or other damage to the cases.

These same ex-soldiers who have fallen down on commission jobs through phony reasons would have been able to hit the ball hard if they had been sure of salaries instead of uncertainty.

So the bureau is making a new appeal to employers to come through with salaries and give the jobless veterans a chance to show that they can make good.

THE TRIBUNE's lists contain the names of many men who are highly skilled in all branches of endeavor, technical or physical. They have references, in most cases, from past employers—and they are rarin' to go.

Offer one of these a job, a chance and a salary and then watch him smoke.

The club also will publish the names of applicants for work and their qualifications.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

At the meeting of the Advertising Men's post, this noon, delegates to the state convention will be elected. New directors will also be elected.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Detroit department, wish to hear from Harry Finberg of Chicago.

A porch and boardwalk entertainment for the disabled men from Fort Sheridan, Drexel, Marine, Jackson Park, Bremermann and other hospitals will be held by the Daughters of the Republic at the Edgewater Beach hotel this evening, Aug. 29. About 150 men are expected.

Austin post's "Fall Festival" is in full swing, at North Parkside avenue from Lake street to Race avenue. It will last until Sept. 6.

Blackhawk post has elected and instructed three delegates to vote for David E. Hannan for state commander at the convention, Oct. 10 and 11.

Theater Manager Urged Not to Show Hamon Film

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—As added evidence of its desire to keep motion pictures free from the exploitation of persons who come into the public prints through the divorce and criminal courts, The National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, of which William A. Brady is president, today sent a telegram to a theater owner in Los Angeles asking him not to exhibit a Clara Hamon picture.

Detroit Bows Head for 3 Minutes for Dead Heroes

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 28.—Buglers brought all Detroit activities to a halt at 3 o'clock this afternoon for a three minute tribute to the soldiers who fell overseas, particularly comrades of the veterans of the 32d division, now holding their annual reunion here. At all places of amusement, in the streets and wherever men were at work, play, labor and conversation ceased.

HIPPITY-HOP TO THE CANDY SHOP; THIEVES, BEWARE

A warm reception is in store for burglars who specialize on Chambers Street Shops, scattered about the city. Mrs. John A. Farley, 6503 Minerva avenue, one of the proprietors, says the next midnight visitor will find "more than money and candy awaiting him."

Forced entrance yesterday to the store at 335 South Dearborn street was the last straw which caused Mrs. Farley to "act."

"I don't know whether they are just burglars or house wreckers," she declared. "There is never any finesse about their entrance. They batter in the door and occasionally break a few windows."

"At 1467 South Michigan boulevard and 19 East Van Buren street our stores have been wrecked and robbed."

"Watch and see what happens to our next unwelcome customer."

She refused, however, to state just what she has planned for entertainment of her unbidden guests.

HATS for FALL

The Derby will be more generally accepted as the proper hat this fall than for many seasons past. Crowns are lower and more full.

In soft hats crowns are higher and brims broader. Brown will predominate, but in new light shades, with band and binding somewhat darker.

Light Gray Hats with black ribbon are very good. In London for the past two seasons this shade was worn almost exclusively in soft hats.

Imported Hats have certain style characteristics that appeal to many well-dressed men. England, France and Italy have contributed generously to The STORE for MEN this fall.

THE FLAVOR LASTS!

WILSON, DOWNEY TRAINING HARD FOR TITLE BATTLE

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

New York, Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Tonight on the spot in the beautiful old town of Manhattan, Long Island, where the famous Georges Carpentier conditioned himself for his quarrel with Jack Dempsey, Johnny Wilson and Bryan Downey, middleweight champions, are practicing through their training stunts preparing for the little party with Bryan Downey, scheduled to be held Labor Day afternoon in the same arena in Jersey City, where Georges succumbed to the mighty Jack Dempsey.

Several hundred fans made the trip this afternoon to see the left-handed boxer perform, and right well did Downey go through his work. The champion showed plenty of speed and better ability against the middleweight boxer, Paddy Flynn and Ned O'Flaherty. Two three-round bouts were indulged in and there was plenty of action mixed up with the milling.

Wilson Sure of Win.

Wilson reiterated his confidence in his ability to beat the Columbus boxer. "I'll knock Downey out this time in a few rounds," declared the middleweight. "I am in wonderful condition but I want to keep working for I want to be just right when I get going. If I was ever anxious to beat a man it is the fellow Downey who has made a lot of money claims."

Downey is putting in some good looks at Billy Grupp's gymnasium in Harlem. The Ohio boy expects to step up a step speed beginning tomorrow afternoon and his sparring partners are all set for some warm doings. Downey has shown plenty of ability during his training work. His advisers are tickled with his showing and the confidence displayed by the broad shouldered youngster who insists that he is Wilson's master.

Prelim Card Is Strong.

Notwithstanding the interest being shown in the bout there has been little betting. Downey has never shown before the local talent and it is believed that the guessers are waiting for some comfortable odds. It is expected Wilson will rule a slight favorite when the men put up their dukes at Rickard's playground.

Rickard is immensely pleased with the make-up of the card to precede the middleweight title tilt. The match between Panama Joe Gans, the clever and middleweight boxer, and Mike McFigue, the tall Celt, is attracting much attention. Both men are fast and can hit hard. The bout is scheduled for twelve rounds. The Jersey flyweight champion, will defend his laurels against Indian Russell for twelve rounds, while the other two bouts will be won by breaking 150 straight targets from sixteen rounds.

WARREN BREAKS 150 STRAIGHT TO WIN SHOOT EVENT

W. G. Warren, state champion of Nevada, yesterday gave a remarkable exhibition of shooting at the Lincoln Park gun club where he carried off honors among a field of well known men by breaking 150 straight targets from sixteen rounds.

The squad, composed of E. F. Woodard, Frank Troch, W. H. Patterson, Frank Hughes and E. A. Wheeler, were in the double event of twenty-five shots. Leading scores:

150 targets (16 yards)—W. G. Warren, 147; E. F. Woodard, 146; Frank Troch, 145; Frank Hughes, 144; W. H. Patterson, 143; E. A. Wheeler, 142; J. D. Stoop, 141; J. B. Bonner, 140; J. H. Italian Swimmer Takes Seine Across Paris Event

PARIS, Aug. 28.—(Special.)—An Italian swimmer, today won the swimming match in the Seine across Paris. The race across Paris, which is about four miles, was won in 1919 by Norman Rosa, then of the United States. Backalupo finished only four minutes of a second behind Ross, while Morris, an Australian, was third, close up to the leaders.

Eleanor Smith Winner of 100 Yard Swim Title

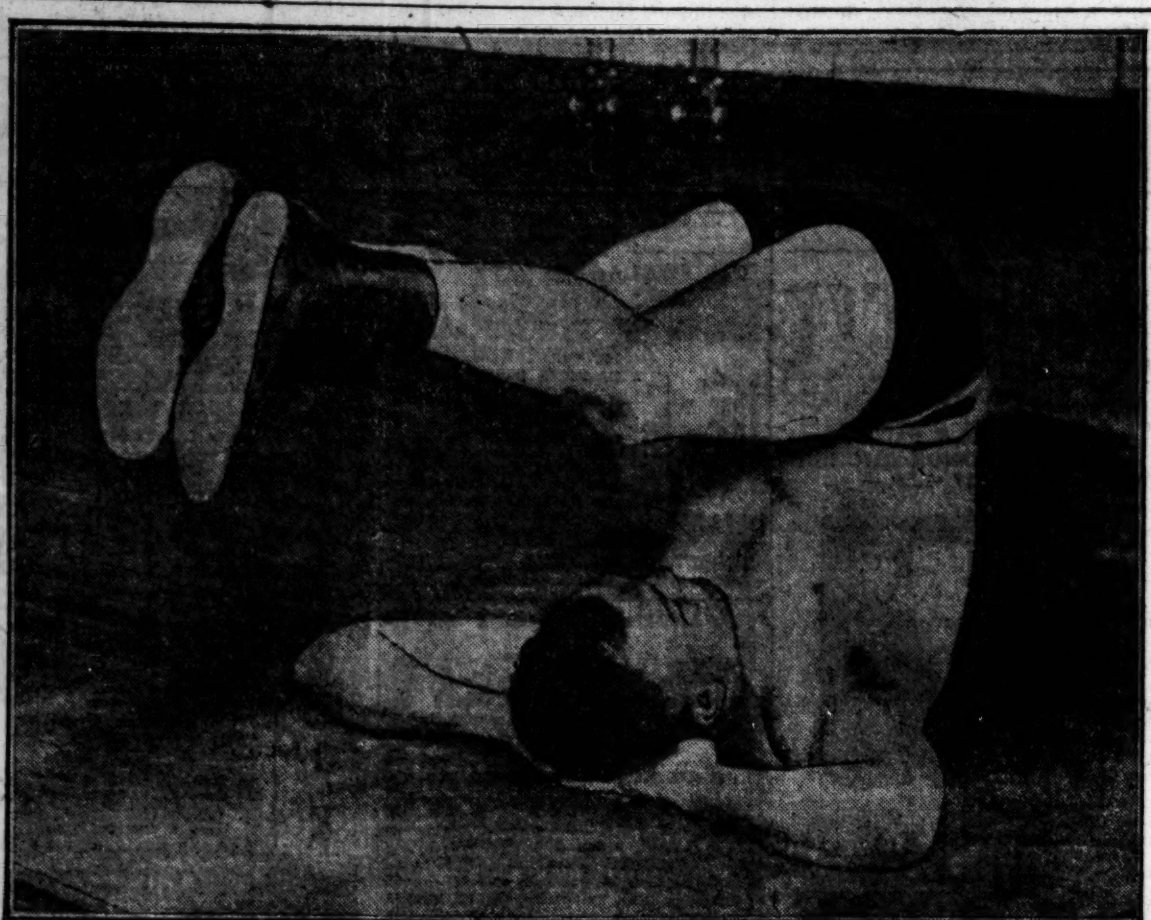

Cleveland, O., Aug. 28.—Eleanor Smith of Buckeye Lake Yacht club, Cleveland, won the 100 yard senior Alameda Mountain association back water swimming championship today at 1:25.44. Ruth Smith of Columbus, Ohio, Porter, and Laura Adams, Cleveland, finished in the order named. The race was the closest in recent years with a foot separating first from the fourth contestant.

Miss Schultz Wins Title at Marquette Golf Club

Miss Ruth Schultz won the women's championship title at the Marquette Golf club, defeating Mrs. Clara Morfitt, 4 and 3, in the deciding contest.

MANDELL AND FARRELL START DRILL FOR BOUT

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., and Young Farrell of San Francisco, who meet in the main event of the boxing show at Aurora Labor day evening, will start training today.

According to the two Eddie—Kane and Long—who look after the interests of the Rockford fighter, Sammy will need little work to put him in shape. Mandell was trained rather fine for the Moore bout last week when he had to make 119 pounds.

When he will be allowed to make 120 pounds on the day of the event, he intends to do just enough training to keep around this notch. Mandell will work at the Arcade.

Mystery Is Solved.

Although he has not been doing much fighting lately, Farrell has been working out two and three times a week. With a battle on his hands, the coast boxer will settle down to work in earnest and will box today with some of the fighters who train at Ferretti's gym.

Matchmaker Jim "Tex" Mullen yesterday announced that Riley's unknown, who meets Phil Harrison, is none other than Knockout Greek Sweeney of the north side. Harrison will work at the Arcade while his opponent will train in private on the north side.

HUNTER, BRITISH CHAMP, ARRIVES

New York, Aug. 28.—(Special.)—When the White Star liner Cedric arrived from Liverpool today there stepped down the gangplank a smiling, athletically built young Scotchman, who, at St. Louis next month, will attempt to outfoot the home talent in the national amateur golf tournament. His name was Willie Hunter, who rose to fame overnight by winning the British Amateur golf championship at Hoylake from a field that included, in addition to the best home talent, the pick of the American amateur field.

Hunter had little to say regarding his chances at St. Louis, where he and Tommy Armour, another young Scottish star, will attempt to carry off the American honors from what is expected to be the greatest field that has ever taken part in the national amateur golf event.

Goldstone Leads Players in Bryn Mawr Golf Meet

Harry Goldstone, with a medal round of 88, was winner of the Bryn Mawr golf links event at St. Louis next month, when M. C. Munzer won the play-off in the blind bogey event, defeating Max Sobel, 3 and 2.

SPORTS through Edgren's EYES

Willard Still Hopes.

Jess Willard is still negotiating for a return match with Jack Dempsey. Rickard says that he'll put it on if Willard proves he's in earnest. Rickard would like to have Jess beat a couple of good heavyweights first. If Willard is in shape he should have no trouble in qualifying for a return match, and he will have to do it if he is to have public support.

Jess Not Fighting Man.

Willard is a big, good natured fellow, and not by nature anything like Dempsey as a fighting man. Heed in New York, as a novice he surely looked like a big overgrown kid. He may not be old enough to worry about the New York boxing commission's rule ordering all boxers over 35 years of age, who are over 160 pounds, to wear a protective helmet.

DE GARMO FIRST IN TOURNAMENT OF FLY CASTERS

Winning two of four events, L. E. De Garmo carried off honors in the bi-monthly tourney of the Washington Park Amateur Casting club yesterday. Summaries:

Salmon fly—Won by L. E. De Garmo, average 90.4; J. C. Payton, average 89.3; second, J. C. Payton, average 88.1; third, J. C. Payton, average 87.0.

INVITE HARDING TO SEE FINALS OF TENNIS MEET

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 28.—An invitation has been extended President Harding to attend the finals of the lawn tennis championship of the United States, it was announced tonight by officials of the Germantown Cricket club, where the tournament will open Sept. 8.

A box directly back of the championship has been set aside for the President and his guests. Boxes already have been engaged by the British embassy, Gov. Sprout of Pennsylvania, and Mayor Moore of Philadelphia.

TOURNAMENT FOR OLYMPIA FIELD.

The Chicago Association of Country and Golf Clubs is sponsoring a tournament for the Olympia field. Approximately 200 players are expected to compete.

NATIONAL A. A. U. SWIM WON BY SYBIL BAUER

Miss Sybil Bauer of the I. A. C. yesterday annexed the National A. A. U. title for women in the 100 yard back stroke, feature of the National and Central A. A. U. swimming events held at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Saturday Miss Bauer won the central title in the same event and stroked the distance in 1:14, a new world's record for the event.

In yesterday's race she covered the distance by use of the back stroke in 1:15, but the mark will not stand, as the course was two yards short.

Dinosaur Wins Breast Stroke.

H. Dinmore of the University of Minnesota won the central championship in the 440 yard breast stroke. The feature of this event was the swimming of Charles Walker of the Chicago Aquatic club. This natator has only one leg, but was well up at the finish.

Miss Edna O'Connell of the I. A. C. won the central championship in the women's 100 yard breast stroke, while Abe Siegel of the same club won the 150 yard breast stroke championship for men. Buddy Wallen of the I. A. C. won the mile in easy fashion over his teammate, Gerald McDermott, and the tri-color club relay team won the 400 yard title.

Crowd Watches Events.

The events were seen by a large gathering, and were decided under ideal conditions. Summaries:

FUTURITY TROT WEEK'S BIG RACE FOR READVILLE

Readville, Mass., Aug. 28.—Much of the interest in the four day Grand circuit meeting starting here tomorrow will center in the effort of Fred Edman, leading race winner of the year, to capture the American Horse Breeders' futurity trot for 3 years olds on Wednesday with Pavonian. The $5,000 purse makes this the most valuable event of the week.

The other leading races of the week will be the $5,000 Neponset free for all pace, and the $5,000 President 2:30 trot tomorrow; the $5,000 Massachusetts 2:11 trot, the $5,000 Boston Herald 2 year old trot, and the $5,000 Elfrim 2:10 pace on Tuesday; the $2,000 Blue Hill 2:04 trot on Wednesday; and the $3,000 Boston Globe 4 year old trot on Thursday.

PAINT YOUR DECOYS.

THE above is the advice of Flash Berg, the w. k. prophet of the seasons. He gives us the following items from his diary:

"Aug. 12.—A flock of a hundred teal came out of the north and swooped into Long Lake, Ill. Jay Graham saw them. A farmer reports that a great flock of black ducks lit on his slough near Grays lake. An observation proved them to be mudhens and flight birds. At dusk today muskrats were bearing reeds for their house foundations. Fall mushrooms are showing in great quantities all over Lake county.

"Edward St. Clair reports that a great flight of king rails has reached Fox lake. In the back marshes of Grays lake he reports a flock of teal that exceeds 500 birds. In the stillness of the night I hear innumerable birds in flight; marsh wrens, terns, herons and Virginia rails. It is the end of the summer season—autumn is here.

Aug. 13.—Back at Montrose avenue I gaze on a placid lake. The water has lowered 20 degrees in temperature and at least two feet in depth. A great school of whitefish play near the shore. Coming out of the morning mist a flock of willets wing by, and to my astonishment, five ducks—butter balls—sweep in gun range.

Aug. 14.—She hits—a swishing northeaster—gold and bearing the scent of fish. Great migrations of wood duck, teal, grobes, golden plovers are going through. At the edge of the beach I find the moss seed alive with plankton—tiny crabs, clams and wigglers; these, the summer's harvest from the depths of Lake Michigan. The summer is over; perhaps not by the time of the sun but by Nature's decree, so get out the old punt and the dried out decoys; paint 'em. Inspect your old gun and hunting togs. Order your shells and be ready for a great banding on the morning of September 16."

SIREN VICTOR IN YACHT RACE TO WAUKEGAN

Waukegan, Ill., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—George Spies' class Q boat Siren led the fleet of Chicago yachts into this port yesterday and won the annual Waukegan race of the Chicago Yacht club. L. J. Lambin's Invader, which was thirty-five minutes behind the Siren, led in the Zauwauaka event. Siren made the thirty-six mile course in 7 hours 7 minutes and 14 seconds. Summaries:

ENTHUSIASM, with a large capital E is the keynote of Douglas Fairbanks' newest and most triumphant production, "The Three Musketeers." It is the mood which will seize and hold you entranced from start to finish, and it is the spirit in which Douglas plays his part through every foot of film in which he appears.

It would be hard to call to mind a character in history or fiction which would be a more successful medium for the happy-go-lucky quality, and joyous exuberance which characterize Doug's histrionic ability. I think that most, if not all, of the friends of Dumas' D'Artagnan will feel entirely satisfied with the D'Artagnan as conceived and impersonated by Fairbanks. Possibly he performs feats which the novelist did not recount in the history of his hero, but, as Douglas promised, there is nothing to offend the lovers of Dumas in any way. The book has been followed chapter by chapter as far as it goes. That is perhaps the one disappointment. A large and goodly portion of the narrative has been omitted. For the reason, doubtless, that a moving picture can not tell Tennyson's book, go on forever. Also, there are the censorship committees. A large and goodly portion of Dumas' classic is not food for babes.

There is no need of telling the story of "The Three Musketeers." If you don't know it, you ought to—and that's that.

The cast is to the last man (and woman) excellent. Cardinal Richelieu seems almost to live upon the screen. Barbara La Marr is, in this deleted version, not given adequate occasion fully to characterize the wickedness of that unpleasant individual, Milady Winter. But there is no doubt that she could. Marguerite De La Motte as the winsome Constance is fit subject for D'Artagnan's love, and Mary MacLaren is a queenly queen.

The costumes and settings are perfect in detail. Directing and photography deserve high praise.

Go and see for yourself why "The Three Musketeers" is called a "million dollar production."

CLOSEUPS

Hazel Keener, Iowa's first prize winner in the beauty contest held by THE TRIBUNE, is in Los Angeles, and is becoming acquainted in the studios of the independent producing associations, which are releasing their films through the Associated First National Pictures, Inc. She will visit the studios of R. A. Walsh, Charles Ray, Louis B. Mayer and John M. Stahl. Katherine MacDonald, Buster Keaton and Marshall Neilan.

At Orchestra Hall George Arliss will appear on the screen next week in his famous stage success, "Disraeli." Those who have not been so fortunate as to see this on the stage will welcome the chance to see the film version. This is Arliss' first picture for United Artists, and has received the highest praise of critics everywhere.

There is a boy in our neighborhood whom we dislike to have our boy play with, as he is not a well behaved youngster.

Not long ago my husband saw our boy on the porch of the bad boy's house, and so he called to him and asked him what he was doing there.

"Edward's got a birthday and Tim at it." Inasmuch as he was the only one at it, my husband let him stay.

Love and Latin.

It was my first year in high school. I had begun the study of Latin and was anxious to exhibit my knowledge to my friend, George, who sat across from me and with whom I had been keeping company for some time. But alas, my note went astray.

At chapel time the dignified "prof" arose and began reading aloud: "Dear George, mother said I might go to the party. Ego amo te."

All eyes were turned on me, and he concluded by saying his knowledge of Latin was limited, but if he remembered correctly "Ego amo te" meant "I love you," and "George should consider himself highly honored to have won the affections of such an estimable young woman." M. L.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.
Home Made Curry Powder.

Meat gravies or sauces of any sort, especially white chicken gravies and brown beef gravies, may be seasoned in a superior way by adding to each cupful one-half teaspoon of home-made curry powder. A teaspoonful would make of this powder. Any sauce used with macaroni, but most especially those of meat, is thus made increasingly attractive. A bit of the powder may even be used in soups, but not sufficient to make the label multipurpose a suitable one.

The following recipe was worked out in my kitchen a year ago, and has been printed but once before:

Two teaspoons black pepper, two teaspoons of mustard, four scant teaspoons of ginger, two teaspoons of salt, one teaspoon of allspice, one teaspoon of cloves, fourteen scant level teaspoons of turmeric powder. Less turmeric may be used and other spices added; such as coriander seed in about the same proportion as mustard, cardamom, and so forth. In our food museum there is a much longer list.

Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, famed among other things as a cook, learned from Abdul an East Indian cook, how to make a wonderful mutton curry "which contained more ingredients than perhaps any other dish on earth," yet it is not necessary to have such a multiplicity. A good thickened meat stock, started with fried onion and thickened with well cooked flour, improved with a little cream and perhaps some coconut milk, is good, and a chicken stock better, with the curry seasoning.

FRANK B.: DON'T USE ANY bleach on your face in which lead or mercury is an ingredient. The following bleach is good: Sulphuric acid of soda, 50 grains; glycerin, 1 ounce; rosewater, 1 ounce; alcohol, 1 ounce. Apply lightly with soft sponge or cloth before retiring.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A MISS: IT WOULD BE A matter of the weather. The dark dress would be cooler—but, generally speaking, the suit is considered smarter traveling costume in our weather.

MABEL: THE COMPLEXION troubles—blackheads, pimples, dry skin—I have so well covered in a small pamphlet that I prefer to do the rather than use so much space repeating the oft repeated queries about skin troubles. Send a 2c.

"Nadine" Picked by Service Club for Its Annual Play

THE annual Service club play, which is looked forward to each season as one of the early and smart events, will be held this year on Nov. 2 and 3 at Arvan Grotto. "Nadine" is the title of the play, which is a sprightly comedy in two acts, with a number of fascinating dance novelties. Mrs. James C. Ames, who has been the lead in the club plays for the past several seasons, will take the starring role again this year. Percival de Carter is writing the music at Danforth lodge, Mrs. P. A. Valentine's place at Oconomowoc, Wis. Mrs. W. H. Wrigley is the new president, having succeeded Mrs. John J. McCall Jr. (Lolla Armour), who served for two terms.

Among the ten or twelve Chicago girls who will appear in the play are Miss Alice de Windt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heyliger A. de Windt, Miss Frances Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Couch, 72 East Elm street; Miss Gertrude White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. White of Lake Forest, and Miss Elsie Bartholomew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomew of 1515 State parkway.

Miss and Mrs. Carl Zeiss of Winnetka are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter on Aug. 23 at Highland Park hospital. Mrs. Zeiss was formerly Miss Mary Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Williamson of 1517 North Dearborn parkway. Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Grubbs of Highland Park have gone to the H. F. herman at Buffalo, Wyo., for a three week's stay.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—The secretary of state and Mrs. Hughes are staying at their suburban home, Greystone, until Oct. 1, when they will occupy their residence, 1829 Eighteenth street, which they purchased as a home shortly after March 4, and which has undergone many changes.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Marston and Mrs. Jennie F. Marston have arrived at the New Yorker hotel, but expect to return soon to California.

T. Coleman du Pont has as his guest in Colorado Springs, ex-Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock.

The wedding of Miss Thelma A. Hall of this city and Robert H. Herrick Jr. of Boston, whose engagement has just been announced, will take place Sept. 4.

New York. The marriage will take place at 4:30 in the afternoon in the Episcopal church of Kenilworth. A reception in the garden of the residence of the bride's parents will follow. Herman A. Poppenshausen of Hammond, announces the engagement of his daughter, Caroline Elsie, to Paul O. Bauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bauer of Hammond. The wedding will take place shortly.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in need and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be that some discarded article which has not been given a second chance, and you have it lying around you, and you know it is of use to some one. Write to me and I will be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper. "I have some woolen pieces and a crazy quilt in woolen started, but find that I am unable to finish it. I will gladly give the quilt and pieces to any one who would like to have them."

"Will you please make a request for me? I have two children and expect to become a mother in October. My husband makes small wages and things are so expensive that I cannot afford to buy baby clothing. I would be thankful for anything. Mrs. F. B."

Astonishing Child Actress Turns 'Zaza' to Touching Drama

BY EDWARD MOORE.

SNAPSHOT impressions of "Zaza" at Ravinia:

Large and enthusiastic audience, large and enthusiastic cast; nearly every one in the company on the stage except the general manager; patrons from all points in Cook and Lake counties.

First scene, behind the scenes in a French music hall where the proceedings take place in Italian; good illusion of activity on the part of actors, stage hands, back stage visitors, etc.; music hall tunes, nearly as good as the tunes in "Broadway Whirl" down town.

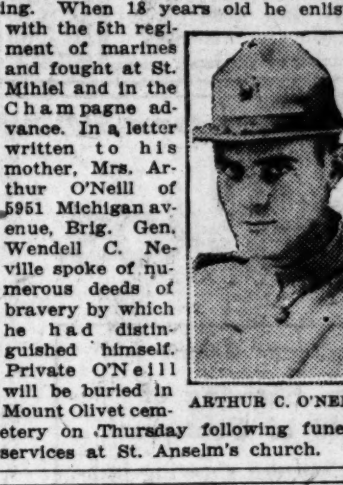

Frances Peralta playing Zaza, muscular, red wigged, not over subtle, but vivid, omitting the visible change of costume with which Geraldine Farrar makes spectators gasp in New York; Alice Gentile playing Zaza's drunken mother with bravura makeup and brilliant cadenza of costume, indescribably, unbelievably comic.

Ricardo Stracconi, playing Zaza's singing partner with well bred suavity, more of a gentleman than a music hall artist, and doing the best singing of the evening; Morgan Kingston, playing the married man suddenly vamped by Zaza, audience warmly applaudive over his third act solo, which was not invariably true to pitch.

Philine Falco playing two roles; Giordano Patrino playing three

Hero's Body Returned

THE body of Private Arthur C. O'Neill, killed on Oct. 4, 1918, while charging a machine gun nest at Blanc Mont Ridge, will arrive at the Union station this morning. When 18 years old he enlisted with the 6th regiment of marines and fought at St. Mihiel and in the Champagne advance. In a letter written to his mother, Mrs. Arthur O'Neill of 5951 Michigan avenue, Bridgeport, Conn., he said: "I am proud to be a part of the 6th regiment of marines and to be fighting for my country."

ARTHUR C. O'NEILL.

Private O'Neill will be buried in Mount Olivet cemetery on Thursday following funeral services at St. Anselm's church.

roles; a dozen others playing one role each.

An astonishing child actress, Ada Bruni, striking the most dramatic note of the evening, converting what had been sex melodrama into touching drama.

Plenty of "basta" and "mal plu" in the words, without the most Italian of phrases ever reaching hearing.

Performance smooth, certain, and good enough to deserve the reputation which will occur next Friday.

Fashion's Blue Book

glaze of fashion, and still the rage for waxed and polished surfaces goes on. Of old braids and ribbons we see more than ever on the early fall frocks of Point twill and gabardine. And the circle which calls, in particular, launched so enthusiastically last spring will probably pass from the experimental stage this autumn.

The fact of it is that lace has been the subject of much laboratory work on the part of the designers. Not only do we find its surface glazed, but that lace is sometimes carried out in the jeweled tints of the Chinese lacquer which has taken such a hold upon the imagination of the dress artists.

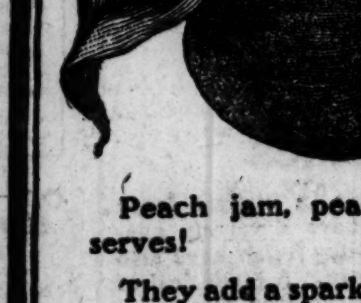

In the accompanying model we encounter lace as nature, a form persevering through all recent experiments in the use of drapery of apricot satin. The popular cape effect is exploited, and the low girle is formed of three strands of coral beads.

SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 6; ARE YOUR KIDS HEALTHY?

Johnny and Mary, along with 398,998 other sun painted boys and girls, will pick up their books and go back to school a week from tomorrow. The 1921 barefoot days are over.

To prevent Johnny and Mary from catching any contagious diseases when classes begin for the fall semester on Sept. 6, the department of health last night sent out a warning to parents insisting that they make certain their children are free from contagion before starting their schoolward.

In spite of the examinations by health officers and field nurses on Sept. 6, the department fears a few youngsters will carry diphtheria or scarlet fever germs into the classrooms. Children recently recovered from whooping cough or colds may communicate the diseases to their schoolmates, it was declared.

Here's the advice the health department asked THE TRIBUNE to relay to Chicago fathers and mothers:

If a child has been sick within five weeks previous to Sept. 6, have a doctor see the child before sending him to school.

If your child isn't very well, don't send him to school. Let a doctor examine the youngster first.

A child with a cough, sore throat, or a cold should be kept at home until cured.

After Oct. 15 vaccination against smallpox will begin. Every parent should insist upon having every child protected. Free use of toxin-antitoxin against diphtheria will be given at school free to all who request it. Take no chances with contagious diseases. They kill children. A few days out of school is the safest policy.
